Vin d'honneur and exhibition visit

The prominent Venetian painter Sonia Ros presents in Athens a series of extraordinary art-works, full of enigmatic figures and explosive colors. The creation of these paintings is based on the artist's conviction that what travelers choose to take with them in their luggage is the reflection of their intimate identity. Every trip is an adventure, every suitcase hides an inner life that is forced to be revealed only in front of the airport metal-detectors. Pursuing her abstract inspiration, Sonia Ros skillfully elaborates these hyper-realistic and technological x-ray pictures generated by the luggage control monitors in order to transform them into fascinating works of art, like a journey into the deeper layers of the subconscious.

For organizational purposes, guests are kindly requested to confirm by May 16th.
